

Rockingham is the second circuit to host this years British Touring Car Championship. With it's high speed oval section and tricky infield, Rockingham is a real challenge for drivers, teams and tyres. The weather is threatening to play it's part on race day, scoring points is a possibility for any driver. Matt Hamilton clocked some promising times in free practice, but starts the first race in 19th position after problems during qualifying.